Healthy trees can make homes safer

Healthy trees can make for safer neighborhoods and healthier relationships between neighbors, according to an urban forester with the LSU AgCenter.

With the large number of trees damaged by hurricanes Gustav and Ike in Louisiana's urban areas, property owners need to evaluate what happened this year and begin preparing for future storms, said Dr. Hallie Dozier.

The result of not maintaining trees properly can lead to significant damage that could be avoided, she said.

"The vast majority of property owners won't know if a tree is dangerous or not," Dozier said. "Property owners should have a relationship with professional arborist to examine trees on a regular basis – ideally every two years."

"Louisiana has the best arborist program in the country, if not in the world," she added. "Our arborists must be licensed and participate in continuing education programs to maintain their licenses."

That means they're trained and have passed a series of tests, she said, adding that Louisiana provides some of the best information and training in the country.

Dozier said a licensed arborist is "somebody who knows trees." A list of licensed arborists can be found on the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry Web site under the "I want to find" link on the homepage. In addition, LDAF horticulture people can be reached at 225-952-8100.

If you hire an unlicensed arborist, your homeowners insurance probably won't cover you. "It's not worth the risk," Dozier said.

Regarding property-line disputes, Dozier recommends being "gentle and nice with your neighbors. Bake them an apple pie before you talk to them about any property line disputes and try to make it as friendly a discussion as possible," she said.

"We have laws because people take advantage of others," Dozier said. "The laws are to protect homeowners, not to protect trees."

"You can't prune your neighbor's tree to the point where you harm it," the LSU AgCenter forester said. "That's the law. And your neighbor cannot force you to remove a tree unless it is interfering with your neighbor's use and enjoyment of his or her property."

Because Louisiana law is not based on case law, judges don't have to follow precedents and can rule however they interpret the law as written, Dozier cautioned.

"In other words, it's always best to settle with your neighbor rather than taking your neighbor to court," she said.

Dozier says if you wait too long to remove an ailing tree, the tree becomes more dangerous – both in terms of it failing in bad weather and in the cost of removing it.

"When it's time to cut a tree, it's time to say goodbye," she said, comparing removing a diseased and dying tree to putting down a terminally ill pet.

Regarding urban trees, Dozier said for large shade trees, she recommends live oak, bald cypress, sweet gum and swamp chestnut oak because they're more wind resistant than other species. On the other hand, she says trees to avoid include red oak, cherrybark oak, any pine and water oak.

The LSU AgCenter forester further cautions that no matter how sound or solid or healthy a tree appears, some trees simply will not stand up in the face of 100-plus-mile-per-hour winds.

It doesn't make much difference with smaller trees because they don't present much of a threat to buildings.

"One small-to-medium tree that is a poor choice is the Bradford pear," Dozier said. "Its poor branching habit makes it very prone to breaking in the wind."

Two publications available from the LSU AgCenter can provide additional information. They are Dealing with Storm-damaged Trees in the Landscape and Trees for Louisiana Landscapes. Both are available from the LSU AgCenter office in your parish or on the Internet at www.lsuagcenter.com and typing the exact title in the search box.

COOKERY

2008 STATE FAIR COOKBOOK RECIPES

Cookbooks are only available at the Louisiana Agriculture State Fair Hall

Cracklin' Cornbread

2 cups water	1 teaspoon salt
1 cup cracklings	1 jalapeno, seeded and diced
1 cup plain cornmeal (medium ground)

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Spray a cast-iron skillet with non-stick spray; place skillet in oven to heat. Place cracklings in water and bring to boil. Boil for 5 to 8 minutes, until cracklings are soft. Add cornmeal, salt and jalapeno to mixture, stir well. Pour batter into hot skillet. Place in oven and bake for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake an additional 30 to 45 minutes. The skillet should be placed near the top of the oven.

Hot Shrimp

2-3 cups butter	3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
3 tablespoons black pepper	1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons red pepper	½ teaspoon thyme
1 tablespoon garlic powder	3-4 pounds unpeeled shrimp
3 tablespoons lemon juice

Melt butter in sauce pan. Stir in all ingredients, except shrimp. Bring to boil. Reduce heat; simmer for 5 minutes. Arrange shrimp in 9x13 baking pan. Pour butter mixture over the top. Chill, covered for 2-8 hours. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-30 minutes. Serve with French bread.

Poppy Seed & Chicken Salad

3-4 cooked chicken breasts (cut into bite size pieces)	4 tbsp. sugar
3 green onions, sliced thin	4 tbsp. vinegar
1 small pkg sliced almonds	2 tsp salt
½ cup poppy seeds	½ tsp pepper
	½ cup salad oil

Mix all together well and chill one hour. Add one can Chinese noodles before serving so noodles stay crisp.

Office of Marketing & Agro-Economic Development*

Cheese and Green Chilies Squares

2 cups warm cooked rice	2 tablespoons chopped pitted olives
1 can (4 ounces) green chilies, chopped	6 eggs, slightly beaten
2 ½ cups (10 ounces) grated Monterey Jack cheese	1 teaspoon salt
3-4 tablespoons chopped pimientos

Combine rice, chilies, cheese, pimientos and olives in mixing bowl. Add eggs and salt. Pour into a buttered 9"x13" baking pan. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven (325 degrees using a glass oven proof dish) 30 minutes, or until set. Cut into 1 ¼ inch squares. Serve at once, or refrigerate and serve later.

Office of Marketing & Agro-Economic Development*

Cajun Blackened Tuna

1 tablespoon paprika	¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon salt, oregano, garlic powder and onion powder	2 tablespoons softened butter
½ teaspoon ground cumin, black pepper	4 tuna steaks, about 2/3" thick

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Combine all spices together on a plate. Rub butter over tuna steaks and press into mixture then gently rub spices into fish. Heat a large cast iron skillet over high heat for about 2 minutes. Place steaks in skillet for about 2 minutes on both sides. Transfer skillet into oven to roast fish for about 5 minutes. Times vary according to how rare you like your steaks.

Office of Management & Finance*

Grilled Pesto-Stuffed Tenderloin Steaks

2 (1 inch thick) beef tenderloin steaks - about ¾ pound	1 teaspoon oil
2 tablespoons pesto	Salt and pepper to taste

Heat grill. With narrow sharp knife, make 1 inch slit on one side of each steak making a pocket. Spoon half the pesto into each steak, spreading it around inside the steak. Brush all sides with oil, then sprinkle with salt and pepper. When ready to grill, place steaks on gas grill over medium heat or charcoal grill 4-6 inches from medium coals. Cook 7-11 minutes or desired doneness, turning once. This is a great main dish for 2.
